

SCOTTISH LOCAL HISTORY FORUM

The Scottish Local History Forum (SLHF) is the umbrella group for all individuals and organisations interested in local history and heritage in Scotland.

It publishes Scottish Local History three times a year, distributes an e-newsletter, organizes conferences and other events, hosts a website for members to promote their own organization's events and publications, hosts an online Directory of local history resources, campaigns on behalf of local history, and generally keeps those involved in local history in touch with Scottish activities.

SLHF CONFERENCE

"After the War is Over"

The Legacy of WW1

The Great War was destructive but it also generated many advances in Scotland that continue to resonate today—the birth of re-constructive medicine, the rise of social care, the emancipation of women, and the decline of the large estates as well as leaving numerous memorials that commemorate the millions of people who paid the ultimate price.

All, including non-members, are welcome.
